LEONARD BERNSTEIN

A Centenary Tribute

Friday 9th – Sunday 11th March 2018

Stanton Manor Hotel, near Chippenham

with Terry Barfoot and Gwyn Parry-Jones

Leonard Bernstein was one of the greatest musicians of the 20th century: as composer, conductor, pianist, writer and communicator. He was the heir of Gershwin in successfully bridging popular and serious idioms in music, and from the time of his debuts in the 1940s as composer and conductor, he remained at the forefront of international musical life. Since his death in 1990, his compositions have rightly maintained his artistic significance. We will explore aspects of his rich legacy, with illustrations on excellent hi-fi equipment including DVD with large screen..

Stanton Manor is a characterful country house hotel set in beautiful gardens in an idyllic location at Stanton Saint Quintin near Chippenham in Wiltshire. There are excellent transport links, including the M4 motorway and the Great Western main line from Paddington.

Terry Barfoot writes widely on music for Britain's leading journals, orchestras, festivals and record companies. He lectures at Oxford University and venues throughout the country, is Publications Consultant to the Bournemouth Symphony Orchestra and the Director of Arts in Residence.

Gwyn Parry-Jones graduated from the Royal Northern College of Music, and played for some years with the Halle and BBC Philharmonic Orchestras. He then lectured at Reading University, leaving recently to concentrate on his musical interests, principally conducting, performing and lecturing.

Course members will arrive on Friday at 5pm and depart on Sunday afternoon. Arts in Residence and Stanton Manor offer an excellent cuisine including dinners with wine.
